

Practical Insolvency

Sadly, debt and insolvency issues are rarely out of the news these days. With more companies entering into an insolvency process and more individuals than ever becoming personally insolvent it is vital that those involved and their professional advisors are up-to-date with the law and best practice. This highly practical seminar will help delegates understand key issues relating to insolvency law and practice and deal with insolvent situations which arise

The programme

This practical one-day course is presented in plain English, avoiding the use of legal jargon wherever possible. A number of case studies and practical examples are used to help delegates appreciate the legal principles and to understand the situations when insolvency occurs. The seminar covers:

- Personal Insolvency – the different procedures
- Creditors' control over an insolvency
- Where to look for assets in an insolvency
- Maximising recoveries in insolvency
- Directors' duties, responsibilities and liabilities
- Conflict between insolvency law and other areas of the law

Pre-seminar contact

Delegates with a particular request to discuss any aspect of insolvency law or practice may contact the organiser prior to the event so that reference may be made to that concern on the day.

Who should attend?

- Lawyers and accountants who come across insolvency in advising their clients
- Insolvency administrators and lawyers in training for insolvency and restructuring roles
- Accountants dealing with tax planning for both individual and corporate clients
- Solicitors dealing with family matters, conveyancing and executries
- Financial personnel in commercial and public sector organisations

Benefits of Attending

Having attended the workshops delegates will be able to:

- Understand the insolvency processes
- Appreciate the impact insolvency can have on everyday issues not obviously connected with insolvency
- Avoid pitfalls in conveyancing, family law and executries
- Understand the practical application of the legal principles of insolvency law
- Appreciate how to maximise recoveries when insolvency appears imminent
- Use insolvency procedures to recover debts owed by using the processes available
- Understand how to better protect themselves against debtors and debt situations.
- Better advise clients on tax planning and mitigation
